DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-40, and 55, drawn to a recombinant protein molecule and methods of detecting an activity in a cell comprising providing a cell comprising a protein with a destabilization domain, a reporter moiety, and a linker moiety, classified in class 530, subclass 350+.
- II. Claims 1-40, 50, and 60, drawn to a recombinant DNA molecule and methods of detecting an activity in a cell comprising providing a cell comprising a nucleic acid encoding a destabilization domain, a reporter moiety, and a linker moiety, classified in class 536, subclass 23.1.

Claims 1-40 link inventions I and II. The restriction requirement between the linked inventions is subject to the nonallowance of the linking claim(s), claims 1-40. Upon the allowance of the linking claim(s), the restriction requirement as to the linked inventions shall be withdrawn and any claim(s) depending from or otherwise including all the limitations of the allowable linking claim(s) will be entitled to examination in the instant application. Applicant(s) are advised that if any such claim(s) depending from or including all the limitations of the allowable linking claim(s) is/are presented in a continuation or divisional application, the claims of the continuation or divisional application may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application. Where a restriction requirement is withdrawn, the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 121 are no longer applicable. See In re Ziegler, 44 F.2d 1211, 1215, 170 USPQ 129, 131-32 (CCPA 1971). See also MPEP § 804.01.

Art Unit: 1633

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Invention I is patentably distinct from Invention II because invention I is drawn to a recombinant protein and methods of utilizing that protein, whereas Invention II is drawn to a recombinant nucleic acid molecule and methods of utilizing that nucleic acid. These are distinct inventions, as the nucleic acid does not require the protein for practice of the methods as claimed. Furthermore, wholly different methods of use would need to be employed for using proteins versus using nucleic acids, and a divergent search would be required. Therefore, restriction is proper.

Note further that this application contains claims directed to patentably distinct species of the claimed inventions. Should applicant elect Invention I or II, applicant is further required to elect a species from the following cell types listed in claims 15-18 and 28-30:

- a) mammalian cell
- b) yeast cell
- c) insect cell
- d) plant cell

Art Unit: 1633

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 1 and 23 are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
